

Celebrate Recovery

Recently a father was trying to take an afternoon nap on a Sunday afternoon in his living room and his little boy kept bugging him saying, "Daddy, I'm bored." So his father, trying to make up a game, found a picture of a globe in the newspaper, a picture of the world. He ripped it up in about fifty pieces and he said, "son this is the puzzle. I want you to put it all back together." He laid down to finish his nap, thinking he would get at least another hour and a half or two hours of sleep. In about 15 minutes the little boy woke him up saying, "Daddy, I've got it finished. It's all put together." "You're kidding." He knew his son didn't know all the positions of the nations and things like that. He said, "How did you do that?" The little boy said, "Dad, there was a picture of a person on the back of that newspaper and when I got my person put together the world looked just fine.
